“It presents unique perspectives on perception, cognition, and communication in human development….achieves an overview of research and thinking toward filling a gap in internationalization of developmental research….will be of interest to researchers in early child development…..well-organized and readable and represents a unique resource to the English-speaking developmental psychologist.”

C. Sabatier, Parental Conceptions of Early Development and Developmental Stimulation. T. Blicharski, F. Gravel, M. Trudel, Representational and Communicative Processes in the Social Construction of Early Temperament. “It presents unique perspectives on perception, cognition, and communication in human development….achieves an overview of research and thinking toward filling a gap in internationalization of developmental research….will be of interest to researchers in early child development…..well-organized and readable and represents a unique resource to the English-speaking developmental psychologist.”